About Edmilson's Camps

Brazilian football is worldwide known for its cunning, fluid and offensive style, famously known as Jogo Bonito (beautiful game).

Based on this Brazilian roots and developed through his wide experience as an international and world champion player, Edmilson has designed a teaching of a football methodology which allows children and young people, among other advantages, to improve their time-space perception, to deeply develop their reasoning speed, as well as clearly evolve their creativity and improvisation skills, always having fun and enjoying the pleasure of playing football.

Being this camp a perfect match for the youth of Germany, as they are very much talented and one of the best in the region. Furthermore, it can help them develop their style, creativity and improvisation, and gives them a window of opportunity to show the public their true skills.
